ABOUT THE BOOK

Kashmir is famous not only for its charming landscape but also for its glorious past. Its recorded history testifies to its grand traditions and rich cultural heritage. Kashmir has always been a spot of attraction for others, and much has been written on it especially after the developments of 1947 and 1989.

Though a few bibliographies of general nature have been compiled on Kashmir, the present work is, however, a pioneering effort in this field. It is unique in the sense that it offers a good deal of annotations on various aspects of the history and politics of three regions of the State viz. Jammu, Kashmir and Ladakh.

The bibliography is selective in nature and indexes 758 books, periodicals and newspaper articles important from the research point of view. In addition to author and subject indexes, it contains a brief introduction to the history and politics of the State so as to give the readers a fair idea of the topic. The book will prove useful to the students, teachers and researchers and thus it will go a long way in facilitating the work of future research on Jammu and Kashmir.

FOREWORD

While Kalhan Pandit of Raja-taraigini fame was the shining star among foremost authors of the glorious history of Kashmir, we have had the benefit of recorded narratives from eminent foreign travellers and writers like Al-Beruni, Mirza Mohammad Haider Dughlat, Atul-Fazal, Abdul Qadir Badooni, Francios Bernier, William Moorcraft, Fredrick Drew, Baron Charles Hugel, P. S. Nazaroff, Arthur Neve, Ernest F. Neve, C. E. Bates, Walter Lawrence, A. H. Francke, Alexander Cunningham, C. E. Tyndale-Biscoe. These are some of the names which appear on the galaxy of foreign writers on Kashmir during the yester-years. However, since independence, there has been a spurt in the number of writers and authors who are the sons of the soil and have, as such, a commitment and dedication to the motherland. Their list is so exhaustive that one would not be able to repeat it here, much as one would have liked to do so. Their contribution as building bricks of the great edifice of the recorded history of Kashmir, Jammu and Ladakh in different fields of learning, politics, the people's life, their sorrows and tribulations, triumphs and titanic feats have been no less significant.

The author Mr. G. A. Wani, who is duly trained in the art of library Science and documentation has made a signal contribution to our State's history and heritage by preparing an annotated bibliography of books and publications on Kashmir History and Politics from 1846, when the Jammu and Kashmir State in its present shape and size came into being, upto 1983, a year which coincides with my taking over as its first servant i. e. Chief Minister.

Jammu and Kashmir State is to traverse a long march on the path towards a gloriuous future. In such a march we need the services of historians as well as bibliographers as much as we need scientists, researchers and explorers. To this new generation of builders of NEW KASHMIR I send my warmest greetings.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I am highly indebted to Dr. Farooq Abdullah who kindly agreed to write a foreword for this book. I am thankful to Shri Z. L. Jalla, Reader, Department of History, University of Kashmir, for his advice regarding the historical portion of this book. Shri M. L. Tikoo, Sr. Assistant Librarian, Iqbal Library, deserves my special thanks for his suggestions.

My thanks are also due to Mr. Mohd. Amin Malik who read some typed portion of this book and gave useful suggestions for the improvement of its syntax.

I am grateful to my friend Mirza Mohammad Yousuf for his valuable suggestions and assistance in getting this book published. I would also like to acknowledge my thanks to Mr. Mukhtar Ahmad Mir for spending his valuable time with me in comparing the manuscript of this book.

I must also express my thanks to the staff of the Libraries I visited for the compilation of this bibliography, in particular the Research Library staff, for their whole-hearted co-operation. My thanks are due to my colleagues Mr. A. R. Mufti and Shri J. L. Langer for their constant encouragement.

I owe much to my mother. In fact her blessings kept my morale high which ultimately enabled me to get this book published. I would also like to acknowledge my thanks to Mirza Mohammad Shafi, Mrs. Shamima, Mr. Bashmir Ahmad and Mr. Khazir Mohammad Mir for typing and retyping the manuscript. My wife and daughter also deserve my thanks for their assistance in the arrangement of the indexes.

Finally, I would like to thank Mr. Khursheed Ahmad, proprietor Jolly Printers, for his co-operation in getting this book printed within a short time.

PREFACE

With the advent of Printing Press during the middle of 15th Century substantial quantity of literature in various forms became available to the readers. Education spread like anything and side by side libraries began to develop. Towards the end of 15th century a technique of producing the descriptive lists of Publishing records was also developed. John Tritheim, considered to be the father of bibliography, compiled the first-ever bibliography in 1494 A. D.

Since then this subject received attention of librarians and experts and the bibliographies of various types have been compiled from time to time. The present century has virtually witnessed unprecedented growth of literature on all subjects, the need to compile more and more bibliographies has become essential from the research point of view. The art of bibliographical compilations has therefore, received great impetus. An annotated bibliography which makes characterisation of a book or a periodical article can serve the purpose of research scholars fully than a general bibliography.

The idea of compiling an annotated bibliography on Kashmir history and politics came to me when I was an M. Lib. Sc. student at A. M. U. Aligarh, in 1980. I was allowed to compile a bibliography on this subject as a topic for my dissertation. This assignment being a small project, I came to cherish an earnest desire to elaborate it and make it more comprehensive. This led me to work further on the project for two years more.

Kashmir has enjoyed great fame for its glorious past as a major centre of learning, for its rich cultural heritage and for charming landscape. It has always been a spot of attraction for others. Therefore, much has been written on Kashmir in books, periodicals and newspapers. Since partition of the country in 1947, Kashmir has become a bone of contention between India and Pakistan. Wars were fought between the two countries and Kashmir came up for discussions at international forums. In the wake of Kashmir's publicity, considerable literature has been brought out on the various aspects of the state. This has led to more and more research on Kashmir's past as well as present. Though a few bibliographies have been compiled on Kashmir, the present attempt is the first of its kind. It has been compiled with a view to fulfil the needs of research scholars on Kashmir history and politics.

SCOPE

A bibliography can never claim to be comprehensive. This has been realised even by the experts in the field. Since it is not possible to include everything published on Kashmir, the compiler of the present attempt had to be selective, limiting his work to the published material on the historical and political events from 1846 to 1983. The starting point was located in the year 1846 for its tremendous political significance as it was the year when Kashmir was sold by the British to Raja Gulab Singh through the infamous sale deed known as the Treaty of Amritsar.

The bibliography, as mentioned earlier, is selective in nature and confined to published material in the form of books and journals only. The entire material is available in the libraries of Kashmir. In fact some of the libraries viz. Kashmir University library, Research library and public library, Srinagar, are rich in material on Kashmir from the research point of view.

The bibliography contains 482 entries, 308 books and 174 periodicals. The material available in Persian and Urdu has been included and transliterated into English. In fact some titles of such material on Kashmir history are valuable and thus included. The number of such books does not exceed 42. In the case of journals, material available in English only has been included. However, two special numbers brought out in Urdu by the Academy of Art, Culture and Languages, Srinagar, on the historians and rulers of Kashmir have been included as this material was deemed essential in view of the needs of research scholars.

The bibliography has been divided into three parts. Part I contains a brief introduction to Kashmir history and politics. This has been done to give the readers a fair idea of the topic. This part also contains lists of abbreviations used for libraries, journals and other terms. Part II comprises the bibliography of books and periodical articles All the items are serially numbered and contain full bibliographical information followed by annotations. For preparation of the entries I. S. I. specifications for the bibliographical references have also been taken into consideration. Effort has been made to provide factual and concise annotations in easy and understandable language. Part III, a part from indexes, contains a chronological chart of important historical events of Kashmir since 1846.

ARRANGEMENT

All the books and periodical articles have been classified by Deway Decimal Classification—18th edition 1971 and arranged in classified order. The entries have been arranged in the alphabetical order by author or title within a specific subject. For subject headings, Sears list of subject headings, 11th edition, 1977 has been used. However, some changes have been made in the subject headings wherever it was found that Sears list would not serve the purpose of the users. For instance under the heading of Politics and Government, subjects have been formed in the chronological order to fulfill the requirements of the scholars who want to make a study of the various historical developments of Kashmir.

INDEXES

The bibliography contains author and subject indexes. Both the indexes are arranged in the alphabetical order with an entry number/numbers against each. Wherever necessary, 'see references' have been provided to facilitate quick consultation of the relevant topic.

A special feature of the bibliography is the information regarding availability of journals. Name of the library has been mentioned at the right side in the abbreviated form after giving the bibliographical information.

It may not be out of place to mention here that the compiler's aim has been to prepare this work for those interested in research in the area of the history and polities of Kashmir. What has been stated and recorded in the bibliography are the views of the authors and in no way reflective of the compiler's views. The job has been done purely in the spirit of a documentalist. The compiler would, however, welcome the suggestions of the readers and the authors for improvement of the bibliography.

INTRODUCTION

Kashmir History and Politics; an Introduction

Land and the people

Generally known as Kashmir, the state of Jammu and Kashmir comprises three provinces of Jammu, Kashmir and Ladakh. The modern state of Jammu and Kashmir was founded by Maharaja Gulab Singh in 1846 as a result of the Treaty of Amritsar between him and the then British Government of India. The State covers an area of 1,38,942 sq. kms. and commands an important strategic position among the countries of the region. According to 1981 census the total population of Jammu and Kashmir was 59,54,010. Geographically the present state of Jammu and Kashmir is divided into three regions.

Jammu

Jammu is the winter capital of the state. It is said that it was originally founded by Raja Jambulochan who lived in 14th century B. C. Jammu province is divided into 6 districts and covers an area of 26,293 sq. Kms. The people of Jammu are usually known as Dogras. They follow different religions and speak Dogri language.

Kashmir Valley

The valley of Kashmir is famous for its beauty and has been rightly described as the paradise on earth. Srinagar is the Summer capital of the state which is said to have been founded by Ashoka, the Great. Divided into six districts, the Kashmir valley covers an area of 15,948 sq. kms. About 90% people of the valley are Muslims. Generally people speak Kashmiri language, a mixture of Sanskrit, Persian and other languages.

Ladakh

Ladakh is the largest district not only in the state but in the whole country and covers an area of 96,701 sq. kms. It has an important strategic position and is bounded in North and East by China and in the North-West by Gilgit and Skardu, now under Pakistan. Ladakh is divided into two districts-Leh and Kargil. It has a unique position for having preserved Buddhism and its rich cultural heritage.

History

It is an admitted fact that Kashmir has had a glorious past. Kashmir has remained a major centre of learning for centuries together. The scholars from different countries used to visit Kashmir to complete their studies in the field of art, literature, philosophy and religion. Kashmir history has rightly been described as more charming than its landscape. In fact the people of Kashmir can really feel proud that their ancestors have recorded past events in the right historical traditions. Among the past historical works, the Rajatarangini of Kalhana occupies a central place. It has served as a source for the later historians. Kalhana completed Rajatarangini between 1148 and 1149 A.D. It starts from ancient times and goes upto the reign of Raja Sangram Deva in 1006 A. D. The chronicle was continued by Jonaraja, Srivara, Prajayabhata and Shuka and was brought upto 1586 A. D., when Mughal emperor Akbar annexed Kashmir. From Medieval to modern period, many historians namely Malik Haider Choudra, Kh. Mohammad Azam Dedmari, Mulla Nadri, Pir Hassan Shah, Fauq, Bamzai etc. brought the chronicle upto present times.

Muslim rule in Kashmir ( 1320 to 1819 A. D. )

Muslim rule in Kashmir started from 1320 A.D. with Rinchan as the first muslim ruler. After Rinchan's death Shah Mir occupied the throne of Kashmir and began to rule as the first sultan. Shah Mir dynasty ruled over Kashmir for more than two hundred years. The famous sultans of this dynasty are Sultan Zain-ul-Abidin and Sultan Shahab-ud-Din.

Kashmir came under the rule of Chak dynasty in 1560. Chak rule lasted for 26 years only and in 1586 Akbar's army occupied Kashmir. In 1752 Mughal rule came to an end and Afghan rule began in Kashmir.

Kashmir under Sikh and Dogra rule (1819 - 1947 A. D.)

Afghan rule in Kashmir lasted 67 years. This rule has been described as the 'crueler and worst'. In 1819 Sikh army of Ranjit Singh occupied Kashmir. Till 1846 Sikh Governors ruled Kashmir. In fact Sikh rule also brought misery for the people of Kashmir.

Kashmir came under the Dogra rule in 1846 as a result of the Treaty of Amritsar of March 1846. In fact Kashmiris were sold by the Britishers to Raja Gulab Singh for Rs. 75 Lakhs. The Dogra rule in Kashmir lasted till 1947.

Freedom Movement in Kashmir ( 1931-1947 )

The freedom struggle was launched by the people of Kashmir in 1931 under the leadership of Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah. In 1932 Muslim Conference was established and in 1939 it was converted into National Conference so as to give the freedom movement a national outlook. In 1946 National Conference under the leadership of Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah raised the slogan of Quit Kashmir and challenged the validity of the Treaty of Amritsar. Quit

Kashmir movement continued till 1947 when the British Govt. published a plan for partition of the country.

Kashmir Politics ( 1947-1983 )

During 1947 many developments took place in Kashmir. On 15 August 1947, British Govt. transferred power to the two dominions of India and Pakistan. Maharaja Hari Singh of Kashmir watched the situation for some time and finally decided to accede to India. During this time there was tribal invasion on Kashmir followed by the Indo-Pak conflict. Pakistan made claim on Kashmir on the basis of population and geographical contiguity.

In January 1948, Govt. of India brought the issue before the U.N. A number of resolutions were passed by the U. N. Security Council between 1948 and 1965. However, the World body failed to find an amicable solution of Kashmir problem.

The direct negotiations between India and Pakistan during 1962, 1963 and 1966 also failed to provide a solution to this problem. After 1971 Indo-Pak war and the Kashmir accord of 1975, the issue became dead. However, Pakistan still thinks in terms of Kashmir problem and hopes for its solution through peaceful negotiations with Govt. of India in accordance with Simla Agreement of 1972.

Internal Political Developments ( 1947-1983 )

The internal politics of Kashmir since 1947 kept on taking a new turn from time to time. After Kashmir's accession of 1947, Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah was appointed as the Chief Emergency Administrator by Maharaja Hari Singh. In March, 1948 he became prime Minister of J&K State. His Govt. left no stone unturned to set right the situation arising out of the tribal invasion and Indo-Pak conflict of 1947. A number of reforms were introduced by the Sheikh Govt. to put the state on the path of democracy. However, his government was dismissed and Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah was arrested on August 9, 1953 by the Sadri-Reyasat. Bakshi Ghulam Mohammad was appointed as Prime Minister of J & K after Sheikh Abdullah and he continued till October 1963. An outstanding achievement of Bakshi's Govt. was adoption of J&K constitution in 1957 and confirmation of State's accession to the Indian Union by the State Legislature. Sheikh Mohammad Abdulla was released in January, 1958 and again arrested in April 1958. A case of conspiracy was framed against him and he was under trial till his release in April, 1964.

Mr. Shams-ud-Din was elected Bakhi's successor in October 1963 and he continued as Prime Minister till February 1964. During Shams-ud-Din's rule the Holy Relic of Prophet Mohammad was stolen from Hazratbal Mosque on December 27, 1963 and this led to the people's agitation throughout the state till the restoration of the Relic in January 1964. On February 29, 1964 Shams-ud-Din was replaced by G. M. Sadiq.

The Sadiq Govt. remained in office till his death on December 11, 1971. The main achievements of Sadiq Govt. were release of Sheikh Abdullah in April 1964, restoration of democratic rights in the state and change in the nomenclature of Sadri-Reyasat and Prime Minister into Governor and Chief Minister respectively. After Sadiq's death, Syed Mir Qasim was elected Chief Minister of J & K State.

During Mir Qasim's reign a dialogue was initiated between Late Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and Sheikh

Mohammad Abdullah. This resulted in the final accord known as the Kashmir Accord of February 1975. The Kashmir Accord paved the way for Sheikh's return to power on February 25, 1975. Govt. of Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah continued till his death on 8th September, 1982. On September 9, 1982 Dr. Farooq Abdullah was unanimously elected as Chief Minister of Jammu & Kashmir State. In June 1983, elections to the State Assembly were held and the National Conference under the leadership of Dr. Farooq Abdullah came to power.
